There are references to James William rather than James Henry in some records but the other data similarities are such that these must be the same person.

James was a farm labourer, he looked after the farm horses on whichever farm he was working on. Constance remembered him taking her and Sybil to the cinema in Norwich, they travelled in a horse drawn farm cart. I think he and Sophia moved around in this small area of Norfolk as he could find work, until they finally settled in Tharston. In 1918 they were living at Hall Farm, then a few years later 'near Chequers', then in 1926 at Forncett Road. - Source: a family recollection.

St. Mary's Home for Girls: "88-90 High Street - No 88 was formerly St. Mary's House, No 90 was formerly the Bishop Clayton Hall. In 1892, the Diocese of Peterborough bought St. Mary's House, previously called Ketton House and named it St. Mary's Home for Girls. Penitent young women between 14 and 18 years were trained in domestic service. The laundry was connected by an underground passage below Hunt's Lane. In 1944 Peterborough Diocese sold all the buildings but the chapel was kept and purchased by the Parochial Church Council of St Mary's and used as a church hall and named after Bishop Clayton who founded the original home. The home operated a laundry in the rear of the premises to help with the girls' re-education, and offset some of the running costs of the institution. It was said that if one of the girls escaped a bell was rung to alert the villagers to help in her recapture." - from an entry in Rootschat.

Edith's daughters Constance and Sybil were brought up by James and Sophia Goodswen (Edith's parents, their grandparents) in Tharston, and her son Cyril by Mrs Amelia Bessie Locke (Sophia's sister, his great aunt) in Long Stratton. It is thought that Edith played no part in bringing up her three children and she never told anyone who their fathers were. - Source: a family recollection.

Constance and Sybil went to the village school in Tharston; Constance told me that her later years were spent in looking after the younger children. What they did when they left school and what they did when they left Tharston I know not. In Tharston they lived next door - that is in the other half of a semi-detached newly built cottage - to the Clutterhams. - Source: a family recollection.
